Contents

Acknowledgements ix

Introduction: Interdisciplinarity, for What? 1
RAPHAEL FOSHAY

PART I • THEORY

1 The Menace of Consilience: Keeping the Disciplines Unreconciled 31
MARTIN JAY

2 The Telos of the Good Life: Reflections on Interdisciplinarity and Models of Knowledge 47
IAN ANGUS

3 Interdisciplinary Models and Dialectical Integration: A Proposed Model of Integrated Interdisciplinarity 73
WENDELL KISNER

4 Globalization and Higher Education: Working Toward Cognitive Justice 97
DIANA BRYDON

5 The Law of Non-contradiction: Dialectic and the Possibility of Non-propositional Knowledge 121
RAPHAEL FOSHAY

6 Interdisciplinarity, Humanities, and the Terministic Screens of Definition 137
JULIE THOMPSON KLEIN

7 Integrating Interdisciplinary Studies Across the Humanities and Social Sciences 165
RICK SZOSTAK
PART II • PRACTICE

8 Ecological Thinking as Interdisciplinary Practice: Situation, Silence, and Skepticism 191
LORRAINE CODE

9 Michael Haneke: The Spectatorship of Self-Reflexivity and the Virtual Gaze in Benny’s Video and Caché 213
JAN JAGODZINSKI

10 Transdisciplinarity and Journal Publishing 231
GARY GENOSKO

11 Gender, Women’s Rights, and Religion: An Interdisciplinary Case Study 251
MORNY JOY

12 Literacy Studies and Interdisciplinary Studies: Reflections on History and Theory 273
HARVEY J. GRAFF

PART III • PEDAGOGY

13 Teaching and Enjoyment: A Lacanian Encounter with the Master Signifier 311
PAUL NONNEKES

14 “One code to rule them all . . .” 325
SUZANNE DE CASTELL

15 Decolonizing Teaching and Learning Through Embodied Learning: Toward an Integrated Approach 343
ROXANA NG

16 From Integrated to Interstitial Studies 367
DEREK BRITON

List of Contributors 391