Contents

Preface  |  vii
Acknowledgements  |  xi

Introduction
How Canadian Lives Became Transparent to Watching Eyes  |  3

Trend 1
Expanding Surveillance
From the Atypical to the Routine  |  19

Trend 2
Securitization and Surveillance
From Privacy Rights to Security Risks  |  39

Trend 3
The Blurring of Sectors
From Public Versus Private to Public with Private  |  55

Trend 4
The Growing Ambiguity of Personal Information
From Personally Identified to Personally Identifiable  |  71

Trend 5
Expanding Mobile and Location-Based Surveillance
From Who You Are to Where You Are  |  87

Trend 6
Globalizing Surveillance
From the Domestic to the Worldwide  |  105

Trend 7
Embedding Surveillance in Everyday Environments
From the Surveillance of People to the Surveillance of Things  |  129

Trend 8
Going Biometric
From Surveillance of the Body to Surveillance in the Body  |  151

Trend 9
Watching by the People
From Them to Us  |  167

Conclusion
What Can Be Done?  |  183

Appendix 1
Surveillance and Privacy Law: FAQs  |  197

Appendix 2
Surveillance Movies  |  205

Appendix 3
How to Protect Your Privacy Online: FAQs  |  207

Appendix 4
Canadian NGOs Concerned with Surveillance, Privacy, and Civil Liberties  |  215

Appendix 5
Further Reading  |  221

List of Contributors  |  227

Index  |  231